Dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Bertie B. White

A DEDICATION TO . . .

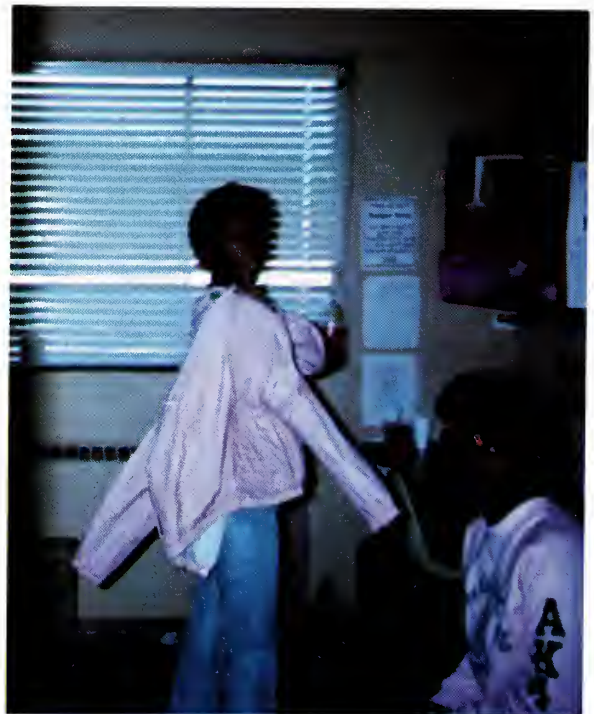

Request Lines . . . Hello My name is Anita Brockman and I'm calling from Morris College . . . And I'd like to speak to one of my parents please.

Okay!! Hello N.J.B. on your request line I'd like to know your grades and your class times.

Hello Hello!!

Caught in the act seems to be what's going through the minds of Jennifer Nowlin and Linda Scott as they give that surprise look to the photographer. What could they be up to now. Linda seems to be giving that "What are you talking boutlooks". While Jennifer is trying her best to skip town because she didn't clean her room.

THE STUDENT BODY

HANGING OUT . . .

Yes that seems to be the name of the game as our students take time out for relaxation. Freshmen girls take time out to pose for the photographer. On three everyone C-H-E-E-S-E.

Francis and Karen gets into the latest gossip as they take time out to discuss what happened to Beau Brady and Steffeno on T.V.'s all time favorite Soap "Days of Our Lives". Yes these are truly the days of our lives.

Rumors . . .

The word is out!!! That Jeffery Jackson has been going around trying to get dates with the women of the freshmen class. But what Jeff does not know is that these women are well-versed on his scheme.

This is the Life of the Students . . .

Filled with excitement, challenge, commitment and self-fulfillment. Student life ranges from academics to athletics. From seminars to debates on Strategic Arms Limited Talks. All in an effort to build our future.

DECISIONS DECISIONS DECISIONS

Yes that's what life's all about . . . making decisions. Making a decision about making a decision. Registration proved to be no exception to the rule.

OUR YEAR

This was the year . . . a year of on going activities . . . and striving for fulfillment a year when nothing seemed impossible..nothing unconquerable..when faith was unmarred by doubt . . . and significant personal experience this was 1985 . . . representing all our present hopes and future ambitions . . . as we build our future.

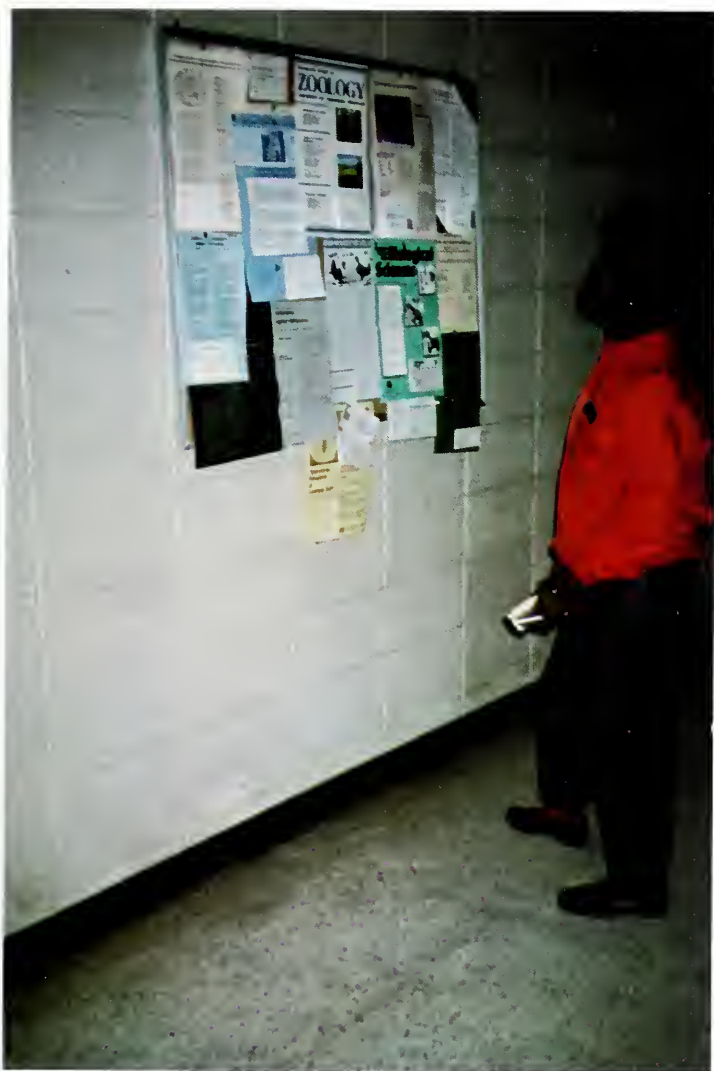

HELLO, New Women's Residence Hall, May I help you please, is usually the line you're fed when you buzz the dorm.

SCIENTIFIC MINDS

Working in the labs seem to be the most interesting part of Biology, Zoology, Chemistry, Physiology, Physics Anatomy, Microbiology or whatever the course might be. It sure beats lecturing. Could they be building the first model of the cellophane heart . . . or perhaps they're preparing a solution to take the boredom out of classroom lectures..or could it be the fuel for our next space shuttle. whatever the case, it's all a part of building our future. Vanessa Lancaster, Edward Williams and Berington Pierson along with a new student put their heads together to create tomorrow's solutions to today's problems.

USEFUL SOURCES

EXTRA EXTRA READ ALL ABOUT IT

Hardly Ever Noticed!!! The Bulletin Boards I Mean . . . Many students missed out on many appointments, opportunities, programs, meetings, and so forth, because they were just too busy to stop a second and read the notices on the boards. For commuters, the bulletin boards served as the main medium of relaying important messages from information on job positions available to graduate studies, fellowships . . . to the weekend discos and weekly assembly programs, all a part of building our future. Senior, Arlene Green checks out the latest in graduate school information. Some heavy stuff!!!

Useful Sources is a good choice of words when referring to the Morris College Newsletter. It is published quarterly and provides an update on the happenings of the campus. These students get the information straight from the horse's mouth . . . the grapevine was beat to the punch this time. Cynthia Clinkscales, Barbara Lloyd and Jackie Anderson show that the myth about women gossiping all of the time is just not so in this case.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER CORONATION 1984 . . .

VANESSA'S ACCEPTANCE . . .

THE GIFT OF A QUEEN

To Dr. Neal, Dr. Richardson, Dean Corley Dean Black, Faculty and Staff, Family and Friends.

Tonight is a special night for me because this is the night that I can truly give thanks and honor to those of you who have made this night possible.

God I love you and thank you for being there at all times because you know how hard things are and how hard I try to be very nice.

Family and friends I love you because you are my inspiration. To each of you who are present tonight, I love you dearly from the bottom of my heart because without your presence none of this would have existed.

To the Morris College Family I love you and to represent you is an honor. This honor I will truly uphold to the highest esteem. I will represent Morris College with honor, pride and dignity.

While representing Morris College I will keep five things in mind.

1. Preparation—I will always be prepared to represent Morris College with dignity.

2. Concentration—I will concentrate on the things that will help make the institution shine.
3. Determination—I will keep a determined mind while representing Morris College.
4. Motivation—I will motivate others and let them know what our Morris College is all about.
5. Inspiration—I will inspire others and give them a great feeling about Morris College.

During my stay here at Morris College, I have faced several ups and downs. So here I learned to deal with the problems. So here I leave you with a quote that has aided me during my years at Morris College. "Positive thinking is a big factor in success . . . The man who thinks he can will achieve most of the things he attempts. The man who thinks he can't may not even try."

To the Morris College Family I love you dearly thank you!!

MISS MORRIS COLLEGE 1984-85 VANESSA R. LANCASTER

PARADE OF QUEENS

IN ESSENCE OF OUR QUEENS

A QUEEN AT MORRIS COLLEGE HOLDS A POSITION OF GREAT HONOR. A POSITION OF GREAT RESPONSIBILITY AND PRESTIGE. THE QUEEN OF AN ORGANIZATION MUST REIGN WITH GRACE AND CHARM. SHE IS ONE THAT HOLDS HER HEAD UP HIGH AND CONDUCTS HERSELF IN A LADYLIKE FASHION. SHE IS WELL-POISED AND IS THE STAR OF HER ORGANIZATION. THE QUEENS AT MORRIS COLLEGE ARE WHAT ONE MIGHT CALL "BRAINS AND BEAUTY" AN UNBEATABLE COMBINATION. OFTEN AN ORGANIZATION IS JUDGED ON THE CONDUCT OF ITS LEADERS, INCLUDING THAT OF THE QUEEN: THEREFORE, OUR QUEENS CAN WEAR THEIR CROWNS PROUDLY AND REIGN WITH DIGNITY. THIS IS THE LIFE OF A QUEEN!!!

FRESHMEN Orientation . . .

ORIENTATION TIME

Yes that big transformation from lofty high school students to that independent young man or woman that everyone dreams about. Yes independence is a big word that carries a whole lot of responsibilities. No more mom to look after you. No more mom to do the laundry or tell you to get up out of bed to go to school. Yes free as a bird. Free to make it or to fail. The choice is up to you.

The Never Ending Process . . .

Registration Begins a New Year

REGISTRATION

The dawning of a new beginning here at Morris College. Registration means hours and hours of waiting in lines. Getting a signature for this and a signature for that. Stamps here and stamps there. Go here to get this for that and then come back and get this so you can take that back. Confusing . . . well not as confusing as it sounds. Ms Spann takes time out to explain to the freshmen just what goes on in the actual process. The I.D. Station is the finish line. With our new computer system however the task is not as tedious as it could be.

An ONGOING Process . . .

The Faculty and staff proves to be real helpful around registration time. Giving signatures here and there. Giving their stamps of approval on this form and that form. Helping us to build our future is the main objective.

SPECIAL EVENTS

SPECIAL EVENTS HIGHLIGHTS

Special events ranged from the Annual Fall Convocation to special assemblies to the crowning of Miss Morris College the Annual Thanksgiving Rally to the Mid Winter Banquet. The college is always providing cultural enrichment programs. In fact we were even fortunate enough to have Jayne Kennedy to come to the campus. There is always something to keep you busy as well as informed.

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. OBSERVANCE DAY

Dr. Richardson and the entire Morris College Family celebrated Martin Luther King's Birthday in the annual Martin Luther King's Observance Day Assembly.

Dr. Taylor gives some challenging remarks to the audience as she highlights some of the issues facing the younger generation.

Dr. Brisbon and Dr. Bell were two of the Faculty members who gave brief talks in remembrance of the late Dr. King. The audience was moved by the words of all four of the speakers.

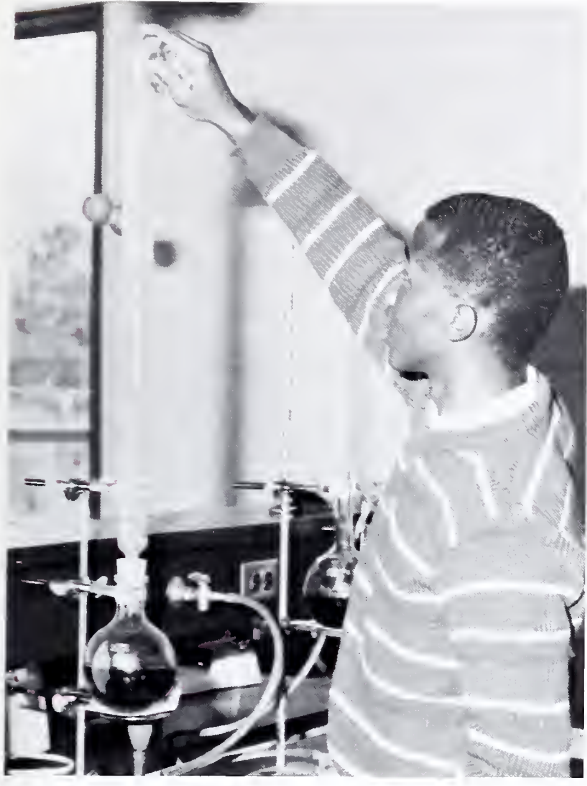

Science in Action Week

This is a very special week for the Pre-Allied Health Majors here on the campus. It is traditionally celebrated with the Division of Mathematics and Natural Sciences guidance. During the entire week a variety of programs is sponsored by the division as well as the Biology Club.

Wow what a week of excitement!!!

CULTURALLY ENRICHED . . .

Transition time—from the classroom setting to the chapel. Lecture time!!! Through building our future, we heard many rewarding lectures from visitors. 1985 was the year of all years . . . A visit from Jayne Kennedy, An effort to help the starving people in Africa . . . A lecture from Dr. Palmer . . . and A DYNAMITE Sermon from Dr. Adams . . . All in an effort to build our future.

HONORS FORUM . . .

Academic Excellence

Alpha Kappa Mu Induction Ceremony . . .

Corley, Arlene Green, Jennifer Nowlin, Stanly Woodruff, Nancy Potts, Teresa Marshall, Ella Williamson, Berington Pierson, Jerome Deas, Felecia Randolph, Pat Witherspoon, Ken Brooks. Former members includes—Camalah Ashe, Edward Williams, Dr. Richardson, Dean Vereem, Dr. Beckett, Dr. Brisbon and Dean Black.

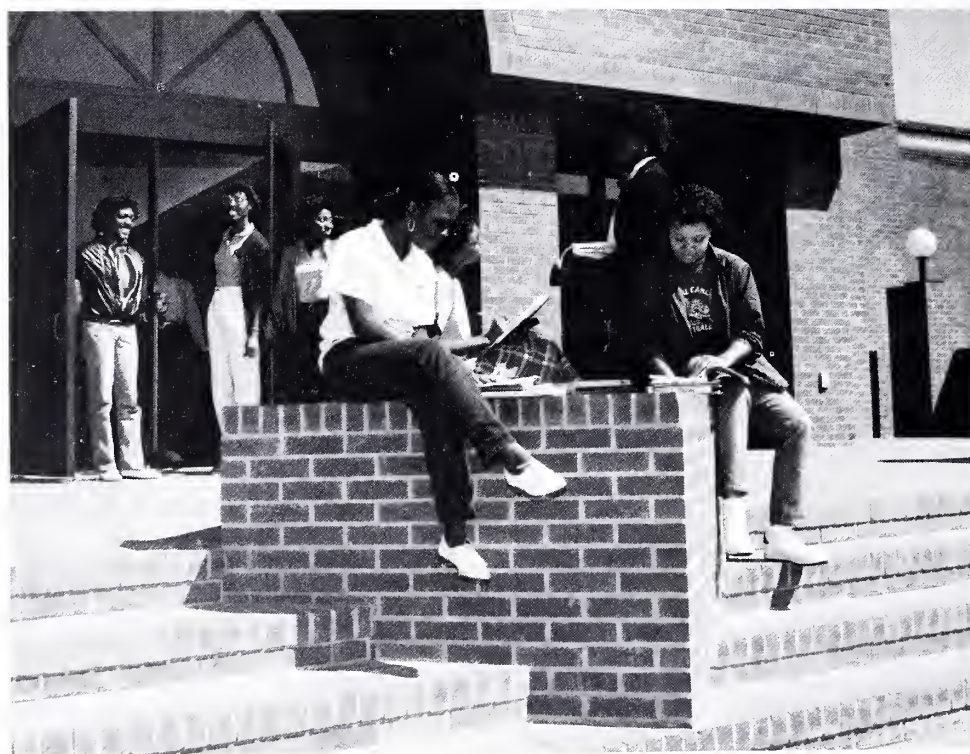

Fall Honors Day Convocation Held . . .
Five Students listed on the President's List Princess Orr, Barbara Wingate, Deloris Wilson, Janice Williams and Irene Marshall. All of these students attained a perfect 4.000.

Scenes from the convocation.
O.R. Reuben Scholars, Morris College Scholars and Students listed on both the "A" and "B" Honor Rolls took part in the convocation program. Dr. Vereem served as speaker for the occasion.

HONOR'S DAY CONVOCATION

Strictly Academics . . .

Academics that's the name of the game around Morris College. Students take their work seriously as they prepare for their future. Study time is study time . . . nothing ever changes that . . . Aside from the Learning Resource Center favorite study corners included the residence halls, student center, on the lawn or any other quiet place that was available.

Kathy Ross and Robert Washington get down to some serious studying as they prepare for a Physical Science test . . . Tracy Williams and Terri Daniels study on the steps of their home. Freshmen testing, studying during work-study and even in the laboratory . . . all in an effort to build our future.

SGA PRESIDENT EDWARD WILLIAMS

A True Leader In Every Respect . . .

As Student Government Association President Edward Williams possessed all the characteristics of a good leader. He had a vision of possible accomplishments which gave him the inspiration necessary for real success. He was earnest in his purpose to achieve. To that extent his vision meant something to him, to that extent he was able to inspire his fellow students with enthusiasm. Small in stature as he was, Edward's earnestness gave him a confident bearing. He appeared confident, not only in the words he spoke but also in the firmness in which he spoke.

He endeavored to make work a joy, a satisfaction, a co-operative undertaking in which one and all shared the glory of good work done for a worthy end.

A FAREWELL FROM THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT PRESIDENT

My Fellow Students:

Words alone can not express what this year has meant to me. For it was you, the students, that elected me to this position of S.G.A. President. We are tomorrow's leaders and it is up to us if we want our children to enjoy the rich full life that we have had in our generation. We must maintain the goals that we have set for ourselves at Morris College and continue these goals upon graduation from this institution.

Morris College itself has grown to be one of the best institutions in this nation. From my freshman year until now Morris College has grown by leaps and bounds under the direction of President Richardson.

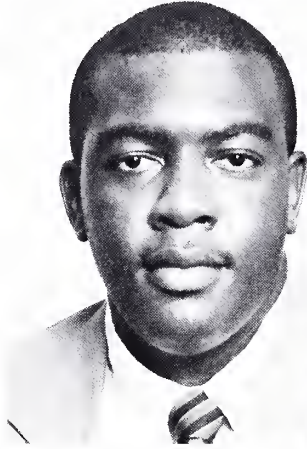

We must remember what we came to school for—which is an even better education; and continue this trend once we have left Morris College. We want people to be proud whenever the name Morris College is mentioned. The only way we can make this happen is to be proud of it ourselves.

As I leave, I ask my successor to steer the new students as well as the old in a direction that would set the pace for a brighter tomorrow and a better Morris College. Good Luck to you all and may God Bless You All.

ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY IS THE NAME OF THE GAME

Having the technological know how is what it is all about in today's society. One cannot possibly get by without having some sort of computer expertise. Above we see William Twitty, James Green, Jenitta Pinckney and Jerome Deas showing off their technological know-how by typing in the latest in compugraphics. Norman Hill gives us a demonstration in the use of broadcasting equipment. Ronnie Dixon shows how the equipment in the Media center can help aid in getting ones homework done the easy way. Patricia Davis comes to the rescue of a beginner as she almost deletes her file . . . better luck next time Pat, I think you had better call Ms. White.

MIGHTY HORNETS IN ACTION . . .

SWEET TRADITIONS

The season did not start on a very promising note and there were setbacks, the definition of VICTORY was just what the Hornets made it. Team spirit was what got them through the season.

Lady Hornets in action. "CC" shows the Benedict Tigers just who is the boss on the court as she steals the ball and prepares for a fast break.

Two more points seems to be what's on Cynt's mind as she releases the ball in mid air. "SQUISH" some sound huh—all net!

A big man with a soft touch, Zack shows his expertise with an inside shot against Clafin while his "main squeeze Zelma goes for a layup of her own.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Sitting—Jacqueline Jacobs, Edward Williams—Pres., Dana Williams Standing—Troy Glover, James Brown, and Kenneth Armstrong.

In a year marked by higher prices, confusing personal values, collapsing international relations, and many broken promises and dreams, the ideals of our Student Government Association symbolized continuity and purpose standing so virtuous, the members of the cabinet, gave us goals to strive for. They brought forth challenge, humanity, and wisdom to us. The S.G.A. provided us with "THE YEAR." It was many things . . . activities, conflicts, excitement, fun, discovery, and growth. The challenge was to be the best we could be . . . and that we were. The S.G.A. sponsored the Annual Coronation of Miss Morris College, a Blood Drive and many other cultural enrichment programs. It was a very good year!!!

MORRIS COLLEGE PLAYERS

The purpose of the Morris College Players is to stimulate interest in dramatic activities at the college. The members often provided us with real life-like dramatic presentations. The members worked hard and diligently, for they quickly realized that planning any dramatic presentation would take long hours of hard practice. Hours in which they were willing to sacrifice in order to put on the best show that they could.

NATIONAL STUDENT BUSINESS LEAGUE

Under the leadership of their advisor Mr. Thomas, the NSBL has participated in various activities on campus, as well as, throughout the community. The NSBL sponsored its Annual Income Tax preparation Clinics—Assisting students in completing their 1984 Income Tax Returns. We visited local high schools recruiting students in the area of business, giving them insights on the courses they should study if they wish to follow a business career. NSBL is the student division of the National Business League. NSBL is provided as a bridge between the theoretical classroom training of the college and the practical world of work in business and industries.

The Peer Counselors, under the leadership of our advisor, Ms. Ora Spann, participated in many exciting activities. We held our first Alcohol-Drug Fair. We attended workshops and seminars; held monthly meetings as well as call meetings to straighten out emergency situations. Thanks to the energetic group of Peer Counselors, the orientation process was right on target. We helped to ease the pain of homesickness and "campus shock" as the new students bravely faced the chores of registration and settling into the dorms. It was all a part of our job . . . All in an effort to help build our future.

The job of these three young ladies, as well as those member of the other three residence halls, was to help their peers adjust to living in their respective dormitories. The Senate served as the main core of the legislative body regarding the rules and regulations of the residence hall. These young people, along with the residence director and resident assistants, helped to keep law and order in the residence halls. These young people deserve a big "pat on the back" for their hard efforts and great accomplishments. All in all, life in the residence hall turned out to be a great time!

MORRIS COLLEGE SUNDAY SCHOOL

Troy Glover, Sharon Smith, Elreeda Lawson, Mrs. Agnes Gregg (advisor), Tatsha Robinson, and Isaiah Odom.

The Sunday School Club along with the Baptist Student Union encourages church attendance and membership. These two organizations serve as the link between the student and the local church and seek to provide Christian fellowship and wholesome fun for all students. These students are the leaders in laying the foundation for building for the future with the Christian philosophy of life.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Robert Reaves, Troy Glover, Melissa Purvis, James Hill, Chris Alexander, Marcella Grate, Ella Williamson, Waymond Whitfield, Mrs. Agnes Gregg (advisor), Stanley Canty, Horace Butler, Alexander Burton.

Often times we complained to the Nurse and anyone we could find about the food but as you can see, the food wasn't always as bad as we made it sound. Besides, it's amazing how good company can improve any situation. Hang in there Mr. Knight!!

GROUNDBREAKING FOR PRESIDENT'S HOME . . .

In April, the South Carolina State Baptist Ushers Convention held a groundbreaking ceremony for a new president's home. The impressive observance featured remarks by several Baptist State leaders. According to Mrs. Christine Dixon, State Ushers President, the successful beginnings of the project represented the fulfillment of a dream that she has had for some time. "A beautiful campus like Morris College needs an appropriately beautiful home for the president," she said.

ANNUAL MID WINTER BANQUET

ANNUAL MID-WINTER BANQUET/RALLY

One of the college's most important fundraising activities. This is the time of the year when the entire college family get together for the support of the college by bringing their financial donations and celebrating with a gala feast. Friends and supporters of the school assemble to hear the annual message which proved to be no exception at this year's event. This is just one of the many occasions in which the entire family get together for one common cause.

A VALUABLE RESOURCE . . .

While we are the architects in the building of our futures, faculty and staff serve as valuable resources. They enhance our personal capabilities and seek to help in our total development. They also serve as ambassadors of the College as they communicate its significance. By the way, we are grateful.

SPRING ACTIVITIES . . .

Spring activities served as the cornerstone to building our future for the academic year. Jackie Jacobs and Darryl Dudley (right and below left) proudly receive Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society membership certificates from President Richardson as Ella Williamson looks on. THESE ARE LEADING BUILDERS OF OUR FUTURE!

Mr. Tom Moss, administrative aide to Senator Strom Thurmond, posed with some of the residents of the dormitory at its dedication services. The dormitory, named for four prominent black South Carolina women who dedicated their lives to teaching and serving humanity, bears the name: Anna D. Reuben, Mamie N. Coker, Magnolia Lewis, Albertha Simons Residence Hall. Mrs. Ollie McAlister, a former Miss Morris College (1948) and a honor graduate of Morris College (1949) delivered a very challenging message during the Who's Who Convocation. Phillip Brown was among the Morris College students named Who's Who. (Next Page)

New Experiences Highlight Institutional Progress . . .

They say 'Spring brings out new things', well, our Spring activities certainly substantiated that statement. New is our radio station (WMCC 640 AM) that broadcasted its first program April , 1985. Michael Spann and Melanie Redd (top) shall go down in history as being among the pioneers of our future in broadcast.

Also new to the College is the Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity. Our Alpha Beta Theta Chapter is the first college chapter to induct women since 1976. Among the charter members are (L-R) Dr. B. Brisbon, A. Thompson, Ms. A. Boynton and Mrs. E. Black.

High School students asked about things from financial aid to resident life during the High School Visitation Day. Yes, Mr. McCall had all the answers.

The art exhibit during the Fine Arts Festival allowed students and staff the opportunity to display their talent. Pictured left is a self portrait of Mr. Staley. His art work is a fine example of the kind of art instructor he is—one of the best. Below, he demonstrates to students that there is also an art to art-hanging.

As students get a head start on the upcoming year, Ms. Davis oversees the elections to make certain everything is done according to the rules. Not to worry, Jackie Jacobs was not working the polls, only casting her vote hopefully to secure the position of SGA second VP.

DR. MARY FRANCES BERRY—SPEAKER

HONORS . . .

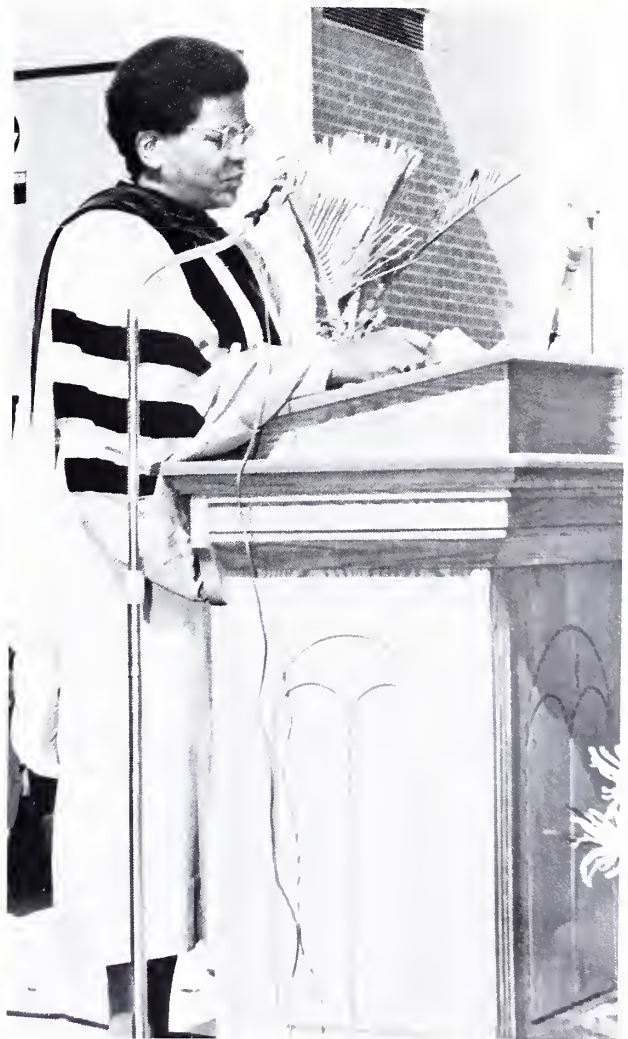

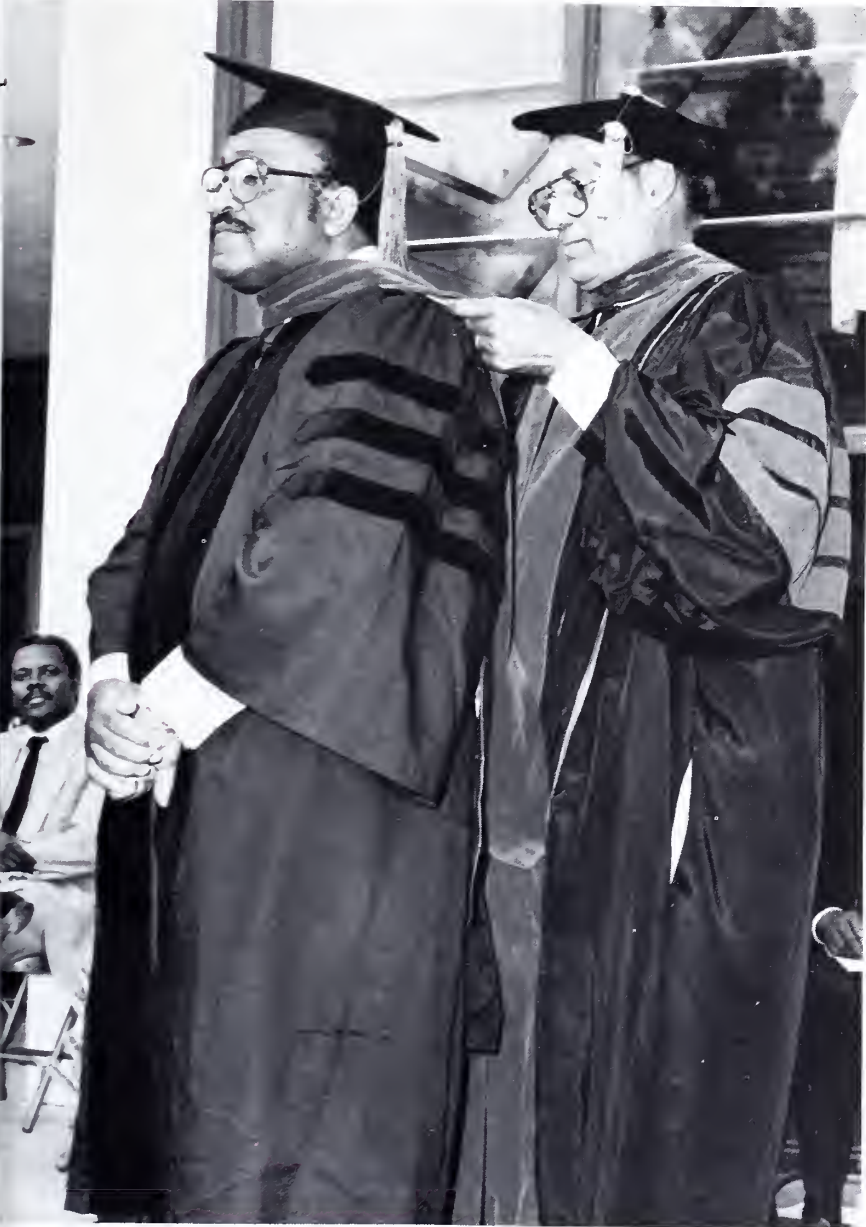

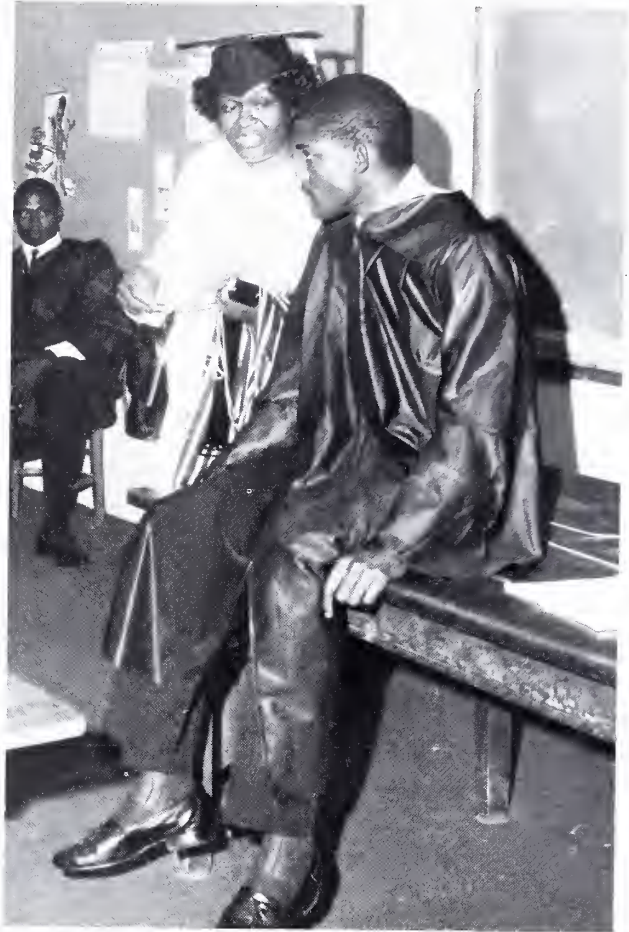

Eighty-seven graduates and twenty-four ministerial certificate recipients participated in the commencement exercises. Charles Jackson of Columbia (right) was among the three honorary degree recipients. Six Presidential Citations were also awarded.

An education carries with it the responsibility to make a commitment and fight for human rights, US Civil Rights Commissioner Dr. Mary Berry (top) told graduates at the May 12 commencement exercise. In closing, she said, "The true value of education is measured by the commitments you make in life and fulfilling them. It is not a sin to not reach the stars but it is a sin not to have a star to reach for."

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

HONORARY DEGREES

LEWIS P. GRAHAM
Doctor of Divinity

Talented and Versatile Proclaimer of the Gospel, State and Local Denominational Leader, Liberal Supporter of Christian Education, Community Worker

You are known in ecclesiastical circles for your humbleness of spirit, and for your depth of understanding and the clearness of concepts with which you proclaim the Gospel.

You have given significant leadership to the Baptist E. & M. Convention as Recording Secretary and as a member of the Executive Board. As Treasurer of the South Carolina Progressive Fellowship, you are committed to integrity and accuracy.

A man of great sensitivity to the needs of others, you strive assiduously for that which you feel is the hope of all humanity—the realization of a more glorious tomorrow.

Because your impressive record of achievement has been God-fearing and honest, and is prophetic of even greater things yet to come, your Alma Mater is duly proud to confer upon you the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity.

CHARLES BENJAMIN JACKSON
Doctor of Divinity

Denominational Leader of Rising Prominence, Pastor, Distinguished Scholar, Humanitarian

Your capacity for Christian leadership was early recognized when, in the providence of God, you were called to the pastorate of your home church while still in your teens. Since this momentous occasion, you have persevered dauntlessly, explored creatively and molded cautiously your path for posterity. This commitment to responsible leadership is reflected in your administration as President of the South Carolina Baptist Congress of Christian Education, and in your services to that organization as an instructor in Christian Education.

Your deep concern to provide for young men and women a truer channel through which they can chart a more productive course to a brighter future, inspire you to give unswervingly of your talents and experiences to such organizations as the Greater Columbia Youth Crusade Movement for Christ.

In appreciation of the commendable heights to which you have elevated yourself in the comparatively early stages of your life, Morris College is honored to confer upon you the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity.

ISAIAH HARVEY
Doctor of Divinity

Eminent Pastor and Minister, Church Builder, Christian Educator, Humanitarian, and Loyal Supporter of Morris College

The Spiritual life of your church is enriched and its physical needs enhanced by your years of devout service, unparalleled initiative, tenacity and foresight.

In your present service to Morris College as Dean of the School of Religion, you took the reins at a time when your prior experience as an instructor provided you with a more objective assessment of its primary needs. Accordingly, you have sought to lay the kind of foundation upon which the future of the School can advance with increased creativity, dignity, status, and service.

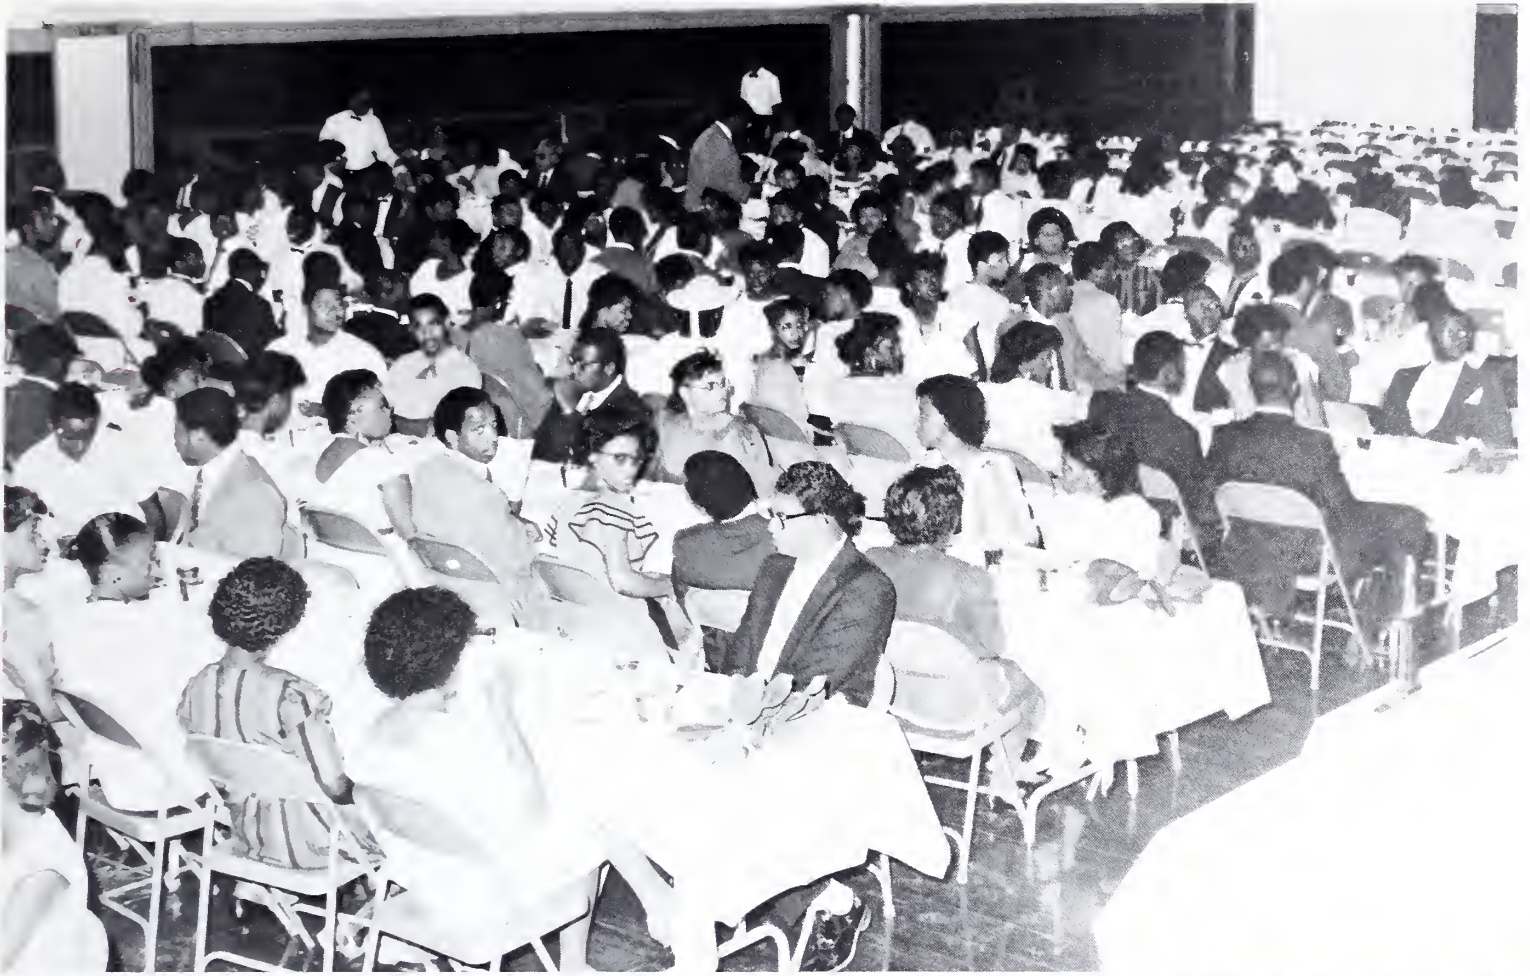

Your record in community and civic involvement is no less impressive. You are a willing servant, available in word, deed and cheerful responsiveness to the needs of others, as attested by your affiliation in such organizations as a member of the Board of The Alston Wilkes Society and The Lancaster County Council for the Aged.

Because of the intensity of your labor, your vision, and great courage, Morris College extends to you both commendations and gratitude and is most pleased to confer upon you the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity.

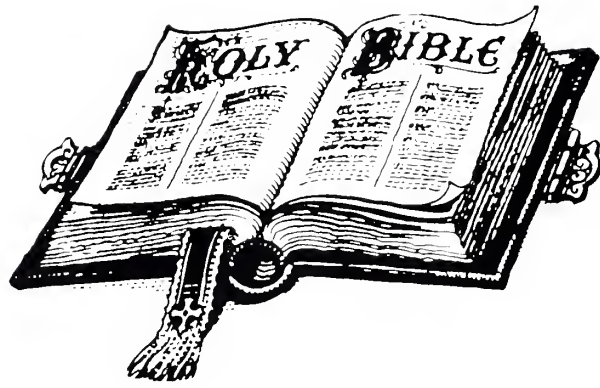

ANNUAL AWARDS BANQUET

Students, faculty, staff share Annual Honors . . .

The annual Awards Banquet was an occasion for patting on the backs for jobs well done. Awards were presented to students, faculty, staff, clubs and organizations. The gala event was quite worth the wait until the end of the year. THANKS FOR LETTING US KNOW YOU APPRECIATE WHAT WE DO!
